First and foremost, I dedicate this book to my Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, the inspiration of this book and the One Who has made it all possible. I thank my parents, Oscar and Ann Robinson, who reared me in the fear and admonition of the Lord. I also dedicate this book to my only sibling, Kimberly Robinson, and give special thanks to Jacqueline Williams for encouraging me to publish this book and James Butler for encouraging me to write for the edification of others.

AN ABSOLUTE INDOCTRINATION

Absolutely! Jesus is the omnipresent entity;
Who dwells in earth and the intergalactic vicinity.
He utterly annihilates Apollo, Venus, and Zeus,
For in His deity He is the engine and the caboose.

Absolutely! Jesus reigns supreme over all creation,
Despite false doctrines which permeate the earth by invasion.
Every word He speaks corrects beliefs that are erroneous,
And reproves the self-righteous souls who are sanctimonious.

Absolutely! Jesus loves all, despite their deficiency,
And as a man he manifested it quintessentially.
He bore the sin of all mankind that life may be eternal,
For in Him we are justified before the most paternal.

In Lord Jesus' every attribute, He is magnificent,
And in power, He is perpetually preeminent.
No other name under heaven is the source of salvation,
Thus He came to provide this absolute indoctrination.

THE ADAMIC AUCTION

There once existed a creature who had been crafted in the dirt.

His Creator was known throughout the world for His artistic work.

The creature's name was Adam, and he had an image so divine,
But then he ate some fruit and fell sick
which was not by His design.

The Artist proposed to have an auction and be the Auctioneer,
And on the block would be the creature
who was once great and revered.

The first bid was made by Benny Bullock
for a price that was low.

His bid was low because he saw a creature in a state of woe.
Another bid was made by Gary Goat that exceeded the first,
Though Gary was rich, he bid less because the creature was cursed.

Another bid was made by Diana Dove who wanted not to buy
A creature that was meaningless to her and only fit to die.

The Auctioneer was ready to declare Adam not to be sold,
But then came Loving Lamb Who had wealth beyond the finest gold.

He bid above the other bidders out of love for Adam's soul,
And by His blood He bids on all believers to come into the fold.

AN ARREST WARRANT

Jesus has a warrant for your arrest,
You sinner who's putting God to the test.
He's not mocked, and on that you should not sleep,
For whatever you sow, you too shall reap.

Jesus has a warrant for your arrest,
You money lover of the treasure chest.
There's only one Master Whom you should love;
And never put earthly mammon above.

Jesus has a warrant for your arrest,
You whoremonger on a sexual quest.
From your youthful lusts you are called to flee,
And to abstain from immorality.

Jesus has a warrant for your arrest,
You gossiper spreading plague as a pest.
God honors not the praises of your tongue,
When you curse your brother as though he's dung.

Jesus has a warrant for your arrest,
You false prophet from north, south, east, and west.
Word addition is a prohibition,
And word subtraction equals perdition.

MAJESTY, MEDIATOR, AND MESSIAH

Jesus has a warrant for your arrest
To come to Him that He may give you rest.
His warrant bids sinners to become free,
And dwell not in the penitentiary.

AS THE DAYS DRAW NEARER

As the days draw nearer to the end,
Perilous times shall come to men.
They'll love themselves more than anyone
And hate the name of God's precious Son.

As the days are coming to a close,
Morals are reaching most lurid lows.
Humility is rare and scarce as a trait,
But pride and boasting don't antique.

As the days are coming to the last,
Sins are growing to a degree that's vast.
Parents are not esteemed with reverence,
And pleasure is sought through incontinence.

As the days are soon to terminate,
With God some men will try to equate,
And think much more than what they should,
But despise the doing of what God calls good.

As the days advance toward the final one,
Closer are saints to meeting God's Son;
To live in glory and eternal grace,
And behold the beauty of Jesus' face.

BARREN BRANCHES

A lovely apple tree in a forest had fruit so clean and ripe;
When people tasted it they were content
and none began to gripe.
Adults and children alike were overjoyed
when they took a bite.
Yet they noticed that the apples were slowly vanishing from sight.
One branch at a time would gradually lose all its ripened fruit,
And all of the other branches found themselves quick to follow suit.
The branches conversed among themselves and asked, "What is happening?"
The forest ranger thought he would uproot the tree of its being.
One branch realized why it and the others had no fruit to bear;
They were detached from the rootstock which caused all these branches to bear.
The branches all lost sight of the fact that the rootstock bore their fruit,
And not because of their power or might or because they were cute.
The lead branch said to the others, "We must attach to the rootstock,

BARREN BRANCHES

For it is our source of nourishment
and our one and only rock.”
The barren branches reattached themselves
to the rootstock in time;
If they had waited any longer they would have met their decline.
The rootstock gave them the ability to bear fruit as before,
And the apples had an even sweeter
taste right down to the core.
Lord Jesus is the Rootstock for us to bear fruit that will remain,
And this we may do if we cling to Him and glorify His name.
